Several years of bad crops and two invasions of locusts have brought the settlers and the natives to the brink of ruin. There is a deficiency of corn in French Africa, and in some places there does not remain any grain in stock.

The natives are gradually bringing their flocks, their only fortune, to the towns on the coast, to exchange them for some sacks of wheat or barley, for not only are the inhabitants without food, but there is also a want of fodder for the cattle.

M. GEROME has recently been occupied in carrying out a novel pictorial conception of "The Cruci-fixion." This consists in rendering with the utmost of his extraordinary power the terror and pathos of that awful subject as they were expressed in the features and actions of the spectator who soon after the event were assembled at the foot of the cross. The figures of Christ and his companions in suffering are represented in the picture by shadows that fall before the spectators. The City of Jerusalem is shown in the background of the picture.

THE "NEW CRISIS" AND THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Our conservative friends, "so-called" all hrough the South, are highly delighted with the acrobatic performances of that skillful vaulter, the New York Herald. Every day, for over a week past, this versatile journal has had a heavy political leader on the situation, lauding the President, and denouncing the Radicals, and especially the negroes, yet professing all the while, too, to favor reconstruction on the Conressional plan. How it can do this consistentw with the advice it daily urges upon the President to relieve the five military commanders of the Southern States, we cannot see. The President, according to the Herald, must replace these five commanders by others of a conservative stripe, and carry out the reconstruction measures in a liberal spirit. Unless we are very much mistaken, it was some such notive that elicited Attorney-General STANent's opinion two months ago, which, so far from being regarded in accord with the will of the Northern people, caused a general outcry against "stanberying" the Acts of Congress. The special session in July, and its more stringent legislation, was the consequence of this action on the part of the President.

Now, no sooner has Congress adjourned, han the President, though unsupported by the Northern people, and impotent in the last resort, as had been proved again and again in his conflicts with Congress, reopens the strife with not one whit more probability of being able to carry out his views than he was last year, or the year before. What reason is there to suppose that the Northern people will bring in a different verdict this year from what they decided to be the sense of the nation last | S. SWANDALE. vear? We have still a lively recollection of a certain Philadelphia Convention, held just about twelve months ago, at the suggestion, it was understood, of the President. A great rehe Democracy, in solid phalanx, in that Convention, were found a large number of Conservative Republicans, scarcely one of whon now sides with Mr. Johnson. This Convention, in which the lion and the lamb lay down together, "South Carolina and Massachusetts entered arm in arm," proved full of sound and fury, signifying nothing.

The "returning sense of justice" had not come. The elections almost everywhere went in favor of the Republicans, and by much larger majorities than before. Now if this proved anything, beyond the shadow of a doubt, it is that the people of the North-they who at present rule the destinies of this Continentlesired to express, in language not to be misunderstood, that they disapproved of the policy inaugurated by Mr. Johnson, and that they ratified the measures of reconstruction

But to return to the great change in Northern sentiment. What proof have we that such revolution of opinion is in progress? Why, the New York Herald, about a week ago, commenced publishing a series of sensation articles on its editorial page, veering clean round, and saying and advocating just the very opposite from what had been advanced in those same columns two weeks before. How long is t since the Herald, every day, had one or two editorials demanding the impeachment of the President? Is it not well known that the Herald is consistent in nothing save in inconsistency? Has it not again and again boxed the whole political compass? Has it not been on every side of every question that has agitated the public mind during the past ten years ? But it is said the Herald is a great reflex of public opinion, and would not have taken this position had it not been perfectly sure that the public mind of the North was ready for such a change. Now we should hail such a change in the Northern mind as much as any one. But we can see no advantage that can accrue to our people from wilfully deceiving themselves on a matter so important and vital as that one that now occupies our attention.

It is no business of ours to question the motives of the Herald. But we cannot help asking if the Herald is such an infallible index of public opinion at the North, how was it it made such an egregious mistake in the impeachment question? The Herald is nothing if not sensational, and it matters but little what the subject in hand is. Only a few weeks ago this "Napoleon of the Press" allowed himself to be hoaxed by an Associate Press Dispatch about Russian Intervention in Ireland. The Herald was the only paper in the country that gulped this so-called diplomatic La Bibliothèque Nationale, which contains books note in perfect good faith, and based an elabohe has none of the Turkish characteristics of phyone mill each volume. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages, and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the names, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her aimost supernatural pewers, unvails the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man.
